Edwin Booth.

SERIOUS IF NOT FATAL INJURIES SUSTAINED BY THE GREAT ACTOR.

NEW YORK, August 17.--The announcement of a serious accident to Edwin Booth, while carriage riding at Cos Cob yesterday, caused excitement here last night, especially among the theatrical fraternity, and theater-goers.

He was driving his phaeton about 4 P. M., when the horse took fright and ran back. The phaeton was demolished, and Booth, thrown to the ground very violently. He sustained internal injuries which may prove fatal.

His wife immediately telegraphed to Mr. McVickers, of Chicago. Her father, Mrs. Booth, the mother of Mr. Booth and his brother, Joseph, were summoned from Long Branch, immediately, and started for the place of the accident.

It is expected that Mr. Booth's injuries will at least disable him for several months; if they do not result fatally. He is under an important engagement with Mr. Daly, of the Fifth Avenue Theater, and Mr. Ford, of Baltimore.

LATEST.

NEW YORK, August 17.--Edwin Booth is quite comfortable this morning. He has not been unconscious, as was erroneously reported, and the accident is not nearly so bad as rumor would have people believe.

The bones of his left elbow are broken. No other injuries have been sustained. The shock to his system is quite light. Dr. McComb says in a few weeks he will be as well as ever.

From the Metropolis.

The Telegraphic Consolidation Denied--Some Blackmail and Libel Suits--A Request from St. Louis.

NEW YORK, August 17.--The Evening Post on the strength of an interview with President Orton, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, says that the report that the proposed consolidation of the Western Union and Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph companies has no foundation in fact. The Post further says that nothing further has been done than the making of a mutual agreement for the protection of each other in the matter of rates, &c. It seems to be the general impression that the rumors have been put abroad for stock jobbing purposes only.

A special dispatch from St. Louis says: Postmaster Tiller to-day sent to Postmaster General Jewell a petition numerously signed by prominent men asking for equal mail facilities with Chicago.

A rumor that the Treasury Department in St. Louis was last night robbed of a large quantity of bonds proves to have been unfounded. A man with a carpet-bag was arrested before the robbery was denied, but was immediately released.

A special from New Orleans says: The Republican State Central Committee has just closed a stormy session. Dissatisfaction was manifested at the recent appointment of Kellogg. An attempt is being made to influence Lieutenant Governor Adams to make important movements during the Governor's absence.

The examination of Hall, Parr, Marshall and Hewell, the four men arrested last week charged with having imposed in forgery, and attempted the negotiation of bonds of the Oregon & California Railroad Company, has been set down for to-day.

The remains of the late George Huntington, Vice President and Secretary of the Western Union Telegraph Company, were taken to Rochester. The funeral will take place to-day.

A suit for libel, in which damages are laid at $25,000, has been instituted in Brooklyn by John F. Stephany against Demas Barnes, proprietor of the Brooklyn Argus. The alleged libel was contained in an article accusing complainant of embezzlement and drunkenness.

A. M. Solfield, editor and proprietor of the Free Lance, charged with attempting to blackmail Sheridan Shook, was to-day held in $2,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Bail was furnished by Ex-Judge Barnard.

From Illinois.

Railroad Sold--Chicago Corporation Row--Will Orate in Place of Jeff Davis--Soldiers' Monument, &c., &c.

CHICAGO, August 17.--The Rockford, Rock Island and St. Louis railroad was sold in this city yesterday by order of the United States Circuit Court, under a foreclosure of a mortgage, in favor of the Union Trust Company, of New York, and was bid off by a representative of the bondholders in Germany for $1,250,000, of which $200,000 was in cash. The bidding was very spirited between the representatives of the German bondholders and Judge Ota, who is supposed to have been acting in the interest of the Chicago and Northwestern road.

In the quo warranto case, brought in the Criminal Court of Cook county, to test the legality of the election held in this city last April, on the adoption of the incorporation act of 1872, Judge Harwell rendered a judgment of ouster against the city. The case will now go to the Supreme Court of the State, to which another decision by Judge Harwell, in reference to the same general question, in the case of the Police Commissioners, has already been appealed.

Should the Supreme Court sustain the decision, the old Police Board will be re-instated and business carried on under the old charter.

The appointment of Jeff Davis as the orator at the Winnebago County Fair, at Rockford, Illinois, having been cancelled, owing to the popular indignation against him, J. B. Doolittle has been invited to deliver the address and has accepted. It is supposed that Mr. Davis declined because of the opposition to his coming manifested by the Union men of Rockford.

WATERLOO, ILL., August 17.--There will be a reunion of the soldiers of Iroquois and adjoining counties, at this place, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. ROCKFORD, ILL., August 17.--Hon. Jas. R. Doolittle is to be the orator of the day at the approaching Winnebago County (Illinois) Fair. The advertising which the Secretary was securing from the notoriety of his receipt of Jefferson Davis' acceptance of an invitation to be present was followed by a dispatch from Mr. Davis on Saturday, indicating his inability to come.

The Far West.

What the Methodists of Utah Demand--Re-negated.

SALT LAKE CITY, August 17.--The Rocky Mountain Methodist Conference closed with the reading and adoption of a report on the condition of Utah affairs. The report denounces, in severe terms, the Mormon Theocracy, declares it hostile to the American Government and institutions, and gives extracts from sermons delivered in the Mormon Tabernacle during 1868 and '73 by Brigham Young, counselling murder and blood, holding the Brigham Young massacre and many other murders committed in Utah since its settlement by the Mormons; demands free schools, free ballot and an amended jury law; calls upon the press and church, as of the country, to keep the matter before the people till these shall speak with one voice.

J. P. Lowe has sent his resignation, as Chief Justice of Utah, to the President.

Forest Fires.

GREAT DAMAGE IN THE CHIPPEWA RIVER LUMBER DISTRICTS.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., August 17.--A gentleman just returned from a trip up to the headwaters of the Chippewa river reports that the fires in the woods have already injured over 100,000,000 feet of standing timber, in that vicinity, to such an extent that it will have to be cut during the coming winter to save any considerable portion to it.

The greatest damage was done on the Pineapple river, where the old choppings were swept clean. The injury done in the hay marshes, where lumbermen have been in the habit of cutting hay for the use of teams during the logging season, is immense, and will probably render it impossible to carry on operations in several of the most valuable districts. It is hoped that the late rains have extended far enough north to quench the fires and prevent further damage, but there is no positive knowledge here as to whether it has or not.

The New Capitol for Michigan.

LANSING, MICH., August 17.--The walls of the third story of the new Capitol building, except the west wing, are now completed to the cornice. Work will be continued throughout the winter.

Bodily Wrecked.

NEW ORLEANS, August 17.--The United States steamer Rio Bravo, from New Orleans for the Rio Grande, encountered a southerly gale fifteen miles off Sabine Light on the night of the 12th and was driven ashore ten miles east of Sabine Light. No lives were lost and everything was saved except the vessel which is reported badly wrecked but may be saved if the weather abates.

The Strikers.

FALL RIVER, MASS., August 17.--The strike here continues. There are no new developments, and the situation to-day remains unchanged.

Tax Payers Looking After Their Interests.

MILWAUKEE, August 17.--The tax payers are demanding an investigation of alleged jobbing of certain Aldermen and officials in connection with the Department of Public Works. Alderman Buehling was up before the Committee on Fire Department on Saturday, and managed to clear himself of charges preferred through a newspaper. He is still on the anxious seat. The members of the Tax Payers Union held a secret session this forenoon to prepare for further developments.

Some Excitement, and Home, Sweet Home.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 17.--Another point in the Dowling scandal case was reached Sunday. At the morning session of the Bethlehem Church it was announced that there would be a meeting of the official Board in the afternoon, and at that time Mr. Wiley, one of the minority of the late investigating committee, appeared.

Seeing this, the members of the official board one by one dropped out, and the meeting went by default. In the evening Mr. Wiley arose and attempted to read a petition asking for an authoritative decision by the officials on the Dowling question.

Mr. Dowling, who was present, sprang to the organ and commenced playing "Home, Sweet Home," while the minister and Mr. Wiley held an angry disputation. Mr. Dowling then attempted to turn off the gas, but without success, and the audience dispersed in considerable excitement and confusion.

The President on the Crocked Whisky Men.

WASHINGTON, August 17.--President Grant in a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, respecting the revenue frauds, says: "Let no guilty man escape if it can be avoided. Be especially vigilant, and instruct those engaged in the prosecution of fraud to be against all who insinuate that they have high influence to protect them. No personal consideration should stand in the way of performing a public duty. U. S. GRANT."

SILVER FOR RESUMPTION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 17.--The Tribune of this morning publishes the following: Preparations for the retirement of the fractional currency outstanding, and the substitution of silver therefor, are being pushed forward by the Treasury Department, and to the accomplishment of this end over ten million dollars five per cent. bonds have already been sold in purchase of silver bullion, and will require the disposition of $10,000,000 more before sufficient is obtained.

Also and Decline of Chivalry.

The classic ancients knew nothing of chivalry. They did not understand the point of honor, and assassinated instead of fighting duels. They were equally ignorant of gallantry toward the fair sex, and condescended to kiss their ladies only for the mean purpose of discovering whether they had been surreptitiously tipping champagne or auisette. In their wars they relied altogether on their infantry, and from their sculptures and paintings it is evident they nourished a very absurd breed of horses. Even the divine Homer vaunts the prowess of his princes and heroes in blood-guard pugilistic encounters, and the great Olympic Games were as vulgar and brutal as the modern exhibitions of Jim Mace and Tom Hyer. The chivalric was inferior in interest to the trotting-matches at our agricultural fairs, and there is nothing in history, ancient or modern, to equal in bonhomie the public shows of the Roman Colosseum. On the other hand, the Gothic tournament was the most splendid, romantic, and exciting of all the public games and festivals that have ever been established in any age or country; and it was from Asia, that nursery of all that is sublime in imagination, exalted in sentiment, magnificent in display, and thoroughbred in horsemanship, that the chivalric idea was introduced into Europe, and took root among the ruins of the ancient civilization; for while a man may be brave, patriotic, and even virtuous on foot, it is impossible for him to be gallant, romantic, proud, magnificent, and, in short, chivalric, without the inspiration of a noble horse.

It rose in Europe with the Gothic cathedral, closely intertwined with that sublime religion which united in its service all the courage, capacity, and genius of a wonderful and romantic age. Love, faith and honor were the white angels, lawless pride, lust, and vengeance the fiends, bazoned on its banners, Ossian and the Nibelungen Lied sing of chivalry in its lusty, untrammelled, heroic youth.

Then comes the discovery of gunpowder, and, forthwith, the chivalric idea is smothered. The brave Roland captures a shooting-iron from a felonious governor, and throws the abominable invention into the sea with this indignant exclamation: "Go, base and unworthy weapon, that no true knight may ever use--forged by Beelzebub--whereby cowardice, weakness and baseness may triumph over strength, courage and justice!" But the brave Roland was mistaken. Gunpowder only cracked the shell and demanded a change of weapons; indeed, it elevated the role of knightship by discarding mere brutal strength from the catalogue of chivalric virtues, and exalting the power of courage and justice.

It was really the discovery of printing that killed chivalry, soul and body. Then the power that comes of knowledge passed over the unarmed people. The unlettered prince could no longer delegate the writing and reading of his letters to a hired scribe, and the dauntless Douglas dared no longer boast,

"Thank Heaven that no son of mine
Should ever be a scribe or penman's slave!"

Whenever the knightly spirit remained on the nineteenth century high-backed bonnets and collar-revolvers will certainly exterminate. "The age of chivalry is indeed past."

"The knights are dead,
And their good swords are rust;
Their souls are with the saints, we trust."

And well may we join with Burke and Coleridge and all the other orators and poets lamenting the downfall of an institution which, although originating in ignorance and barbarism, and tarnished with vices and abuses, aspired at least to foster all that is pure, exalted and admirable in the human character--an institution so grand and impressive even in its ruins that Cervantes in ridiculing it has drawn one of the noblest characters in literature--Harper's Magazine for September.
